DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Sevcik et al (U.S. 6330542).

Regarding claim 1, Sevcik discloses a method of processing a print job (the automated quoting and procurement system, fig. 1) of a customer before (the procurement system processing the print request from the print buyer/customer and sending it to the print provider, fig. 1, col. 3, lines 1-67) submitting the print job to at least one of a plurality of print provider (print providers, fig. 1), the method comprising the steps of:

(1) providing a print processing system controller (the automated quoting and procurement system, fig. 1, for providing printing capabilities (i.e. quantity, prices, delivery zip code, and etc based upon customer's preferences of the print job request) of the printer providers to the customer, col. 3, lines 1-67 and col. 9, lines 15-67) having a printing capability of the print providers (registered print providers, fig. 1, col. 3, lines 1-67 and col. 5, lines 1-10) registered therewith;

(2) defining a network communication link (Internet communication network, fig. 1, col. 1, lines 5-20) between the customer and the print processing system controller;

(3) receiving a data file (receiving a print job request such as booklets, newsletter, and etc. along with preferences/options from the customer, figs. 2-8, col. 3, lines 1-67 and cols. 6-7) for the print job at the print processing system controller via the network communication link; and

Art Unit: 2624

(4) determining at least one document type (determining what document type has been order, i.e. postcards, envelopes, and etc. , figs. 2-8, cols. 6-7) for the print job via the print processing system controller, including processing the data file (i.e. finishing options, figs. 2-8) for the print job to determine the at least one document type for the print job (providing the best print providers that capable of servicing customer's request for print jobs based upon selected quality, colors, and/or price range, figs. 2-8, col. 3, lines 1-67).

Regarding claim 2, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 1, wherein the step of defining a network communication link includes defining an Internet communication link (Internet communication network, col. 1, lines 5-20) between the customer and the print processing system controller.

Regarding claim 3, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 1, wherein the step of determining the at least one document type (i.e. postcards, letterhead, figs. 2-8) for the print job includes processing the data file for the print job and determining from the data file at least one of a file format, a number of pages, a print medium, a printing layout, a color content, and an image presence of the print job (finishing options, figs. 2-8).

Regarding claim 4, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 1, wherein the step of determining the at least one document type includes determining a set of document types (figs. 2-8) for the print job, and further comprising the steps of: presenting the set of document types (figs. 2-8) to the customer via the network communication link; and receiving a print request for the print job at the print processing system controller via the network communication link, including specifying a document type (cols. 5-7) for the print job from the set of document types for the print job.

Regarding claim 5, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 4, wherein the step of receiving the print request further includes specifying at least one of a number of copies, a cost characteristics, a quality characteristics, and a due data characteristics for the print job (figs. 2-8).

Regarding claim 6, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 4, wherein the step of receiving the print request further includes specifying at least one of a print medium, a printing layout, a color printing option, a finishing option, a delivery option, and a due date for the print job (figs. 2-8).

Regarding claim 7, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 6, wherein the step of receiving the print request further includes specifying a plurality of selections for the at least one of the print medium, the printing layout, the color printing option, the finishing option, the delivery option, and the due date for the print job (figs. 2-8).

Regarding claim 8, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 4, further comprising the steps of: (1) determining with the print processing system controller which of the print providers have the printing capability to fulfill the print job, including comparing the print request and the data file for the print job with the printing capability of the print providers (cols. 3, 9-10); compiling with the print processing system controller a list of at least one quote (figs. 9-18) of at least one of the print providers which has the printing capability to fulfill the print job; and (3) presenting the list (col. 3, lines 1-67 and cols. 6-10) of the at least one quote to the customer via the network communication link.

Regarding claim 9, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 8, wherein the list of the at least one quote includes at least two quotes of the at least one of the print providers (col. 3, lines 1-67 and cols. 6-10 and col. 13, lines 28-60).

Regarding claim 10, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 8, wherein the step of defining the network communication link includes defining the network communication link between the customer, the print providers, and the print processing system controller, and further comprising the steps of: (1) selecting a quote from the list of the at least one quote and at least one print provider of the at least one of the print providers to fulfill the print job (col. 3, lines 1-67 and cols. 6-10 and col. 13, lines 28-60); (2) and submitting the print job to the at least one print provider via the network communication link (col. 3, lines 1-67 and cols. 6-10 and col. 13, lines 28-60).

Regarding claim 11, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 1, wherein the print processing system controller has a plurality of document models include therein, and further comprising the step of: (1) creating the print job from a document model of the plurality of document models (custom product graphic, col. 3, lines 20-67).

Regarding claim 12, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 11, wherein the step of creating the print job includes: (1) receiving a print job type at the print processing system controller, compiling with the print processing system controller a set of a document models from the plurality of document models based on the print job type, the set of document models including the document model of the plurality of the document models; and presenting a set of document models to the customer via the network communication link (cols. 10-13).

Regarding claim 13, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 12, wherein the step of creating the print job further includes selecting the document model from the set of document models (col. 3, lines 20-67).

Regarding claim 14, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 11, wherein the step of creating the print job includes selecting at least one a print medium, a printing layout, a color printing option, and a finishing option for the print job from the document model (figs. 2-8).

Regarding claim 15, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 14, wherein the step of creating the print job further includes presenting a cost for each of the at least one of the print medium, the printing layout, the color printing option, and the finishing option for the print job to the customer via the network communication link (figs. 2-8, col. 3, lines 1-67).

Regarding claim 16, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 11, wherein the step of creating the print job includes selecting a document template for the print job from the document model (figs. 2-8).

Regarding claim 17, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 1, wherein the step of defining the network communication link includes defining the network communication link between the customer, the print providers, and the print processing system controller, and further comprising the step of: registering the print capability (col. 3, lines 1-67 and cols. 14-16) each of the print providers with the print processing system controller via the network communication link.

Regarding claim 18, Sevcik further discloses the method of claim 17, wherein the step of registering the printing capability includes registering at least one of a file format compatibility, a print medium capability, a printing layout capability, a color printing capability, a finishing capability, and a delivery capability of each of the print providers (figs. 2-8 and 18, cols. 3-6 and cols. 14-16).

Regarding claims 19-39, please see rejection rationale/basis as described in claims 1-19 above.

Regarding claim 40-45, please see rejection rationale/basis as described in claims 1-3, 15-16 above.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

(1) U.S. 2003/0140315 to Blumperg et al, discloses for a method for interactively creating a print job via a Internet Network.

(2) U.S. 6473760 to Klatt et al, discloses a method for generating a print request/job and sending it to the print provider.
